SHS Education Professions Class

Scottsburg High School has many avenues for students in career pathways. We have an Engineering pathway, Business pathway and a Medical pathway including our EMT Class. One of our pathways is in Education.

Scottsburg High School's Education Professions class helps give students interested in education a taste of a career in education. Students learn about child development theories, learning styles, lesson planning, curriculum development, their personality and teaching style, assessment, technology in the classroom, classroom management and many other things. The class meets for two semesters and also allows students to participate in internships in local classrooms. The students just finished writing research papers about child development theorists. After their papers were complete we discussed how it is important to have many varied experiences in the classroom to meet various learning styles. We They are now planning activities that relate back to one of the stages of development and learning styles. The projects pictured reminded students that it's important for kids to have time to be creative and use different parts of the brain during learning. They gathered materials outside and combined them with craft supplies inside to create a project of their choice.

Guidance Corner

Guidance has been visiting classrooms this week to deliver lessons on bullying. Students were given the definition and techniques for dealing with bullies. They also received the school's policy on how bullying situations will be handled. A big 'thank you' goes out to all of the English teachers for allowing us a few minutes of class time.

Campus Wide Classes at SHS

Scottsburg High School is a very unique campus. We have two paths of study on campus, High Schools That Work & New Tech. Students choose these paths for the bulk of their courses.

Students then have what we call "Campus Wide Courses" that could be taught by staff from either path of study. These courses are open or required for all students regardless of the choice of program. Chemistry, Health and Careers are all examples of these type of courses.

Calculus, Political Science, Advanced Manufacturing, AP Physics and Zoology/ Botany are examples of upper level courses designed to challenge our top students. These courses are challenging and worthy of your student's extra effort. They are designed as College Prep courses.

We have received feedback in the past from our students that have gone to some of the best universities in the state and they have encouraged us to challenge students more to prepare them for the rigors of a top notch college education.
